A Shared Vision of Quality Care, Outstanding Service and Sustainable Growth

At Good Shepherd Rehabilitation Network, the heart of our mission is to help men, women and children overcome their challenges and achieve their maximum potential despite the odds.

Last fiscal year, Good Shepherd took this principle out of the therapy gym and applied it to our organization as a whole. Despite significant obstacles – a struggling economy, reimbursement challenges and issues relating to patient volume – we achieved a consolidated operating margin, including Good Shepherd Penn Partners (GSPP), of 2.1 percent, or $2.4 million. We provided post-acute care to 60,935 individuals, which represents the most people served in our storied history.

This achievement is outstanding considering that, as of January 31, 2010, Good Shepherd was experiencing a loss of $1.3 million and was on track to end the year deep in the red. We made some difficult decisions to reduce expenses and enhance revenues. These initiatives allowed us to right the ship and end the year on a positive note.

While tackling the considerable challenges that confronted the organization, Good Shepherd's management team maintained a focus on the future by completing a months-long strategic planning process. The process culminated in five strategic directions (see page 3) that position Good Shepherd as a post-acute care leader that is prepared to grow and thrive in a changing health-care paradigm.

Our vision for Good Shepherd is shared by those individuals and groups who have sustained us for more than 100 years. They are the employees, the donors, the volunteers, the elected officials and, above all, the patients, residents and clients, who together will provide the support, skills and energy to make our ambitious vision a reality.

Our shared vision is to provide excellent quality of care, while ensuring the safety of the people we serve. We will pursue this vision by investing in state-of-the-art clinical technologies, focusing on infection prevention and benchmarking patient outcomes data against facilities regionally and nationally.

Our shared vision is to consistently provide unsurpassed customer service. We will pursue this vision by tracking nationally benchmarked patient satisfaction scores and developing initiatives to ensure that those we serve are treated in a friendly, respectful manner during all points of contact with Good Shepherd.

Our shared vision is to make Good Shepherd an employer of choice in the region, by working with our employees, communicating openly with them and providing fair and equitable pay and benefits. We have already shown progress on this front, as our employee engagement metrics have increased substantially since 2008 (see page 5).

Our shared vision is to grow Good Shepherd in a sustainable fashion. Operating revenues have grown by 62 percent at Good Shepherd Rehabilitation Network since 2008. In the past year alone, we opened a new rehabilitation hospital for children, expanded our outpatient Pediatrics Program by opening a new donor-supported therapy suite, signed a management contract with the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP) and opened three new outpatient physical therapy locations (see pages 4-7). Moving forward, we will continue this growth by identifying appropriate partners, business lines and geographic areas, with the goal of generating revenues to sustain our mission so we can provide services to more people in more places.

This Annual Report to the Community more clearly defines our shared vision for Good Shepherd's future, while detailing the steps already taken to make this vision a reality.

Thank you to those who share our vision and who share a love for Good Shepherd and our mission. Because of you, Good Shepherd will continue to strengthen our position as the post-acute provider of choice in eastern Pennsylvania and beyond.

Thank you,

Sally Gammon, FACHE

A VISION FOR THE FUTURE

Our Mission

Motivated by the divine Good Shepherd and the physical and cognitive rehabilitation needs of our communities, our mission is to enhance lives, maximize function, inspire hope, and promote dignity and well-being with expertise and compassion.

Our Core Values

- Compassionate Care
- Excellent Service
- Community Partnership

Pillars of Excellence

At Good Shepherd, we remain steadfastly focused on five pillars—people, quality, service, finance and growth. These pillars are derived from our core values and form the basis of everything we do. Focusing on excellence in these five areas, and measuring our progress on a daily and weekly basis, allows us to fulfill our noble mission of serving our communities with expertise and compassion.

Our Strategic Directions

As the health-care landscape changes, we must adapt and provide care in the most efficient, effective manner possible. These strategic directions, which we adopted in 2010, will allow us to do just that. The goal is to provide patient- and family-focused programs that are organized around service line centers of excellence, and then to identify the right partners, the right collaborative arrangements and the right facilities to provide outstanding care and service to the people we serve.

Develop service line centers of excellence in Neurorehabilitation, Musculoskeletal/Orthopedic Rehabilitation, Pediatric Rehabilitation and Cardiopulmonary/Complex Medical Care

Grow in new markets by identifying the “right partners”

Create a continuum of care that integrates acute and post-acute care

Develop new management contracts and health system partnerships

Continue to explore the development of a continuing care hospital, which may include inpatient rehabilitation, long-term acute care and skilled nursing care, in the Lehigh Valley

KEY ACCOMPLISHMENTS 2009–2010

A Growing Pediatric Program

Last year, more than a century after the organization welcomed its first child in need, the Good Shepherd Pediatric Program reached new heights.

In July 2009, the Good Shepherd Rehabilitation Hospital Pediatric Unit opened its doors, becoming the first inpatient rehabilitation unit for children in the region. Last year, 75 children, who are recovering from illnesses, injuries or accidents, received care at the new unit. In the past, these children would have traveled to Philadelphia or farther to receive the acute rehabilitation care they needed. Now, they can receive expert care from rehabilitation specialists close to their homes and their families.

Good Shepherd's Outpatient Pediatrics Program also expanded with the opening of the Dornsife Pediatric Therapy Suite. The new space in the Good Shepherd Health & Technology Center eventually will allow the program to accommodate more than 12,000 additional patient visits annually. This will help Good Shepherd meet the growing demand for pediatric physical, occupational and speech therapy, while decreasing its reliance on waiting lists. The suite was made possible by gifts from the HEDCO Foundation (named after the late Hal and Ester Dornsife), the David and Dana Dornsife Foundation and the Quest Fund, managed by Dody (Dornsife) Jernstedt.

A Continuum of Care for People with MS

In May 2010, the National MS Society designated Good Shepherd and Lehigh Neurology, a practice of Lehigh Valley Physician

Group, as a Comprehensive Care Center for the treatment of multiple sclerosis. The two organization's partnership is the only certified comprehensive care center in the Lehigh Valley and one of only 42 in the nation.

Good Shepherd and Lehigh Neurology received the designation because the organizations provide a full continuum of care for people with MS. Individuals receive diagnosis and medical management at Lehigh Neurology. Good Shepherd then offers inpatient and outpatient rehabilitation services, as well as wellness programs, psycho-social support services, fitness opportunities and assistive technologies to maintain independence.

An Engaged Workforce

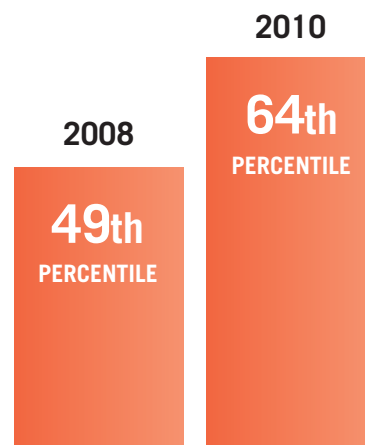

Our staff members provide the care, the quality and the support services that differentiate Good Shepherd and ensure that we provide the best care possible for the people we serve.

Thanks to a comprehensive approach to employee relations, Good Shepherd's workforce is more engaged than ever. A focus on two-way communication between administrators and staff and a commitment to transparency has allowed Good Shepherd to boost its employee engagement scores, as determined by an independent survey tool. In 2008, our employee engagement stood at the 49th percentile nationally. By the end of fiscal year 2010, the score had improved to the 64th percentile.

Good Shepherd tracks employee engagement because engaged employees are satisfied and focused on providing excellent service and care. By listening to our staff members, integrating their ideas and concerns into organizational initiatives and remaining dedicated to providing competitive salaries and benefits, we hope to continue the positive trajectory in employee engagement. This interaction among our workforce will position Good Shepherd as an employee of choice in the communities we serve.

EMPLOYEE ENGAGEMENT

An Expanding Footprint

For most individuals, convenience is an important factor when choosing a location for outpatient physical therapy. To meet the growing demand for outpatient services and to make Good Shepherd's quality care available to more people in more communities, we opened three new Good Shepherd Physical Therapy locations last year.

Good Shepherd opened new sites in Coopersburg and Hamburg, and we welcomed CORE Physical Therapy in Bethlehem Township as a new member of the network. Good Shepherd now provides outpatient rehabilitation care at 20 locations in the greater Lehigh Valley.

KEY ACCOMPLISHMENTS 2009–2010

A Focus on Quality

At Good Shepherd, our goal is to get our patients back to their lives as quickly and with as much function as possible. To do this, we maintain a constant focus on quality care and patient safety.

Last year, we increased our investment in the clinical technologies that form the infrastructure necessary to provide consistent, safe care. Technologies such as the MediServe clinical documentation system, the Pyxis® Medstation 3500 and the TheraDoc® infection monitoring system, have improved efficiencies at Good Shepherd and helped ensure that our patients achieve better functional outcomes than those at similar facilities regionally and nationally (see page 9).

Good Shepherd's focus on infection prevention is receiving national acknowledgement. Last year, Good Shepherd was selected to participate in a hand hygiene pilot program by the Joint Commission's Center for Transforming Health Care, a national agency dedicated to solving health care's most critical patient safety issues. Findings from the program will be used to help prevent expensive and potentially deadly hospital-acquired infections at post-acute care facilities throughout the nation.

A Bionic Step Forward

Last year, Good Shepherd became the first health-care facility in the country to use the Tibion Bionic Leg in the inpatient and outpatient rehabilitation setting. The Tibion uses robotic technology to help patients regain movement and function in a leg impacted by stroke, spinal cord injury or brain injury. Our patients already are benefiting from this state-of-the-art device. In one instance, an individual with multiple sclerosis went from walking only 20 feet with the help of a walker to walking more than 250 feet while wearing the Tibion.

Good Shepherd's expert clinicians have also used modern technologies, such as the Apple iPad, to improve function for people with severe disabilities, or to improve communication or cognition in people with a host of functional challenges. Our Research Department continues to assess and modify existing technologies for use by our patients, residents and clients.

This type of foresight has made Good Shepherd a leader in the early adoption and use of assistive and rehabilitation technologies to improve lives and maximize function.

Top: Mary Jane Frick, OTR/L, ATP, guides resident Sally Niles as she uses the Apple iPad to augment her communication. Right: Jamie Kovacs, DPT, and patient Gene Frey demonstrate the Tibion Bionic Leg.

A Collaboration for the Children

Recently, Good Shepherd announced that it has entered into a contract to manage all medical rehabilitation services provided at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP).

Good Shepherd will manage the inpatient rehabilitation at Children's Seashore House, rehabilitation services provided to other CHOP inpatients and outpatient rehabilitation in the CHOP Care Network.

For Good Shepherd, this is an exciting collaboration with a premiere health-care institution. CHOP consistently ranks as one of the top three children's hospitals in the country by US News & World Report, and its culture of compassion and quality meshes well with Good Shepherd.

This management contract will connect Good Shepherd's expert rehabilitation care with those children who need it in a broader geographic area.

A Partnership Gains Momentum

Good Shepherd Penn Partners (GSPP), our joint venture with Penn Medicine in Philadelphia, recently celebrated its two-year anniversary. Now that GSPP's start-up phase is complete, the organization is primed to grow and to become a leading provider of post-acute care in the Philadelphia region.

Last year, GSPP provided post-acute care to more than 15,000 individuals and generated an operating income of $3,938,000, which represents a healthy 7.3 percent operating margin.

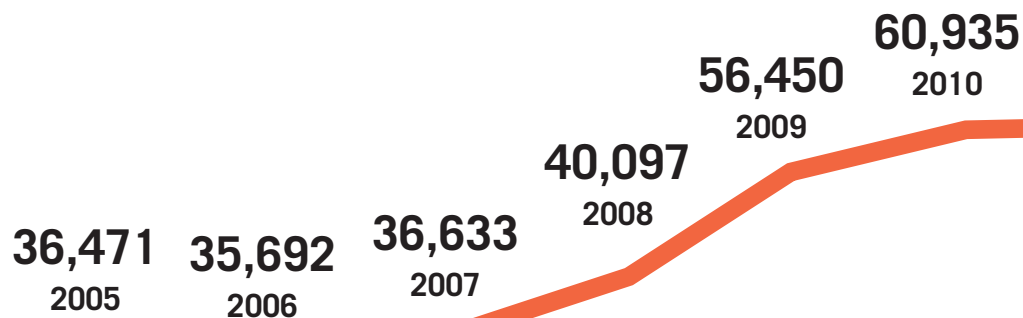

These numbers are poised to improve into the future, and they reflect the hard work and dedication of GSPP's more than 500 employees. The staff members of GSPP are well-respected in their professions, and they have facilitated excellent patient outcomes. Independently compiled patient satisfaction ratings, functional outcomes and ventilator weaning outcomes all exceed national benchmarks.

Better Results in Less Time

Last year, patients in the Good Shepherd Rehabilitation Hospital achieved better function in less time than at other facilities regionally or nationally. The functional independence measure™ (FIM) determines the amount of progress patients make during their inpatient stay. Length of stay efficiency combines FIM scores with length of stay (how many days before discharge). The higher the number, the better the efficiency of rehabilitation.

When calculating the benefits that it provides to the community, Good Shepherd conforms to the conservative standards set by the Catholic Health Association (CHA). For more information on the CHA's standards, visit www.chausa.org and click on "Our Commitments."

Partnering for Equality

Good Shepherd has been a part of this community for more than 100 years, and we are dedicated to improving the health and function of our neighbors and friends. That's why we provided more than $6,721,000 in total quantifiable community benefit last year. This represents 5.8 percent of revenues.

Last year, Good Shepherd provided free health screenings and seminars; we provided educational opportunities for future therapists and nurses; and we worked with Penn Medicine to administer the only residency program in the Lehigh Valley for physicians specializing in physical medicine and rehabilitation. We also provided care to men, women and children regardless of their ability to pay.

Good Shepherd also has continued to play a lead role in the Partnership for a Disability Friendly Community, a community-wide coalition of people with disabilities, service providers, caregivers and funders. Last year, the partnership announced the results of a needs assessment conducted in 2009 and began meeting regularly to develop action plans and brainstorm ideas to meet the unmet needs of people with disabilities in the Lehigh Valley.

 Italian American Bocce Association

Philanthropy is alive and well at the Italian American Bocce Association, whose members have been giving $100 a month to Good Shepherd since 1990. For them, it’s the right thing to do. And they do it for Good Shepherd and many other charitable organizations, including Dream Come True, Meals on Wheels and the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

“We chose Good Shepherd because it’s been synonymous with quality, compassionate care for more than 100 years. Since our philanthropic focus is children, the region’s only pediatric inpatient rehabilitation facility was a natural choice. Our organization and the 52 auto dealers we represent are proud to be associated with this great institution.”

– Tom Kwiatek, executive director
– Bryan Gault, board president
Greater Lehigh Valley Auto Dealers Association

Driven by a commitment to give back to the community they serve, the members of the Greater Lehigh Valley Auto Dealers Association converted their 2010 Auto Show Preview Night into a charitable gala, benefiting Good Shepherd’s Pediatric Program.

HONOR ROLL OF DONORS

“We were both raised at St. Paul’s Lutheran on South 8th Street and the Good Shepherd Home was a part of our upbringing. Good Shepherd is a class act that serves the community in many ways – residents, rehabilitation and pediatrics. We are convinced the Lehigh Valley is a better place because of it.”

– Rod and Jean Meagher

The Meaghers give both time and treasure to Good Shepherd. They volunteer at the annual Conrad W. Raker Sporting Clays Invitational and made a generous gift to the Pediatrics Program. Jean heads the endowment fund committee at New Life Evangelical Lutheran Church in New Tripoli. At her suggestion, the church donated a portion of the fund’s earnings to Good Shepherd. In 2007, Rod spent five weeks as an inpatient recovering from a burn injury. The Meaghers are grateful for the excellent care Rod received.

PLANNED GIVING

The 1908 Raker Society is deeply grateful for donors, past and present, who support the charitable mission of Good Shepherd through estate planning. Their foresight has played an integral role in carrying forward the mission of The Rev. John H. and D. Estella Raker.

The society welcomes new members starting at the $1,000 level who have remembered Good Shepherd in their will or have created a life income or insurance gift.

"Growing up, I saw so much good that was done at Good Shepherd. I knew I always wanted to be a part of it. I remember Good Shepherd in my prayers daily."

– Frieda Wahrmann

Frieda's loyalty as a donor dates back to 1982. Since then, she has made 97 gifts and named Good Shepherd in her will. Frieda's father, The Rev. H.E.C. Wahrmann, was called upon in 1920 by Good Shepherd founder, The Rev. John H. Raker, to serve as administrative secretary and "general helper," a post he held for more than 40 years. Above, Frieda holds a treasured picture of her late father and mother, Emma Louisa.

HONOR ROLL OF DONORS

“Supporting Good Shepherd is easy because of its commitment to all who require healing. I was one of those people more than 25 years ago. Still today I receive healing from this place and the true Good Shepherd, Jesus Christ, upon whom the organization’s mission is established.”

– Jamie Smith

In 1983, Jamie was an inpatient at Good Shepherd following a car accident that injured his spinal cord and left him paralyzed from the waist down. Now a grateful donor, he has supported the recreational therapy program and, through his partnership in Around the Clock Nursing, he and his colleagues have supported the Good Shepherd Pediatrics Program as a sponsor of the 2009 Golf & Tennis Invitational and through donations to other pediatric fund-raising events.

“Good Shepherd is great for the Lehigh Valley community. As the president of a successful leading business, I think it’s important to give back. I am very humbled to have chaired the Good Shepherd Golf & Tennis Invitational committee for the past two years.”

– Todd Donnelly

In 2009, Todd Donnelly, president of Viamedia, used his drive, energy and unbridled enthusiasm to chair the committee for the Golf & Tennis Invitational for Pediatrics, making it the most successful tournament in Good Shepherd’s history. Then, he repeated the effort in 2010. Under Todd’s leadership, the committee launched a fund-raising event at Braveheart Highland Pub, which brought together friends, donors and Good Shepherd employees for a night on the town, also benefiting the Pediatrics Program.

HONOR ROLL OF VOLUNTEERS

“Being named Volunteer of the Year was such a highlight for me. It made me feel like I’m doing something with my life that counts. I always wanted to go into mission work. This is my mission here.”

– Georgine Edwards

A warm and welcoming smile paired with a giving heart are just two of the reasons Georgine was named the 2010 Conrad W. Raker Volunteer of the Year. Georgine gives of her time selflessly as receptionist at the Conrad W. Raker Center and can always be counted on to help with any project. Last year, Georgine volunteered 1,180 hours.
